was a 19th-century
polymath best
remembered for his contributions to the development of

ethnography and the
development of
anthropology as a discipline. Modern psychology owes him a
great debt, because of his theory of the Elementargedanke, which led to Carl Jung's development of the theory of archetypes.
