One incident changed Will Ander's life forever... As the Assistant Curator for the Tampa Bay Museum of Art, Will thought he had it all. A great job, a boyfriend he adored, and friends and family he could count on whenever he needed them. But, on the worst day of his life, the facade came crumbling down, exposing the truth. His life was a sham. The home he built with his partner had been made of cards and it was collapsing all around him. FBI Agent Robert Famosa loved his job on the Art Theft Task Force. When the call comes in that another piece of precious art had been stolen-the sixteenth in the last year and a half-he'd been even more determined to solve the case and bring the perpetrator to justice, no matter the cost. What he hadn't been expecting was the amber-eyed Assistant Curator stealing his heart. A change of pace... No matter how hard Will tried to forget about the delicious agent who made his heart trip a beat, he couldn't. After a chance meeting, Will steps back into the BDSM lifestyle, something he swore up and down wasn't for him. However, with Master Robert's guidance, Will's fears turn into pleasures as he re-explores his sexuality. The truth comes out... After another burglary's reported, Will must face his past, if he wants to have a future with Agent Famosa. But when the truth is revealed, will Robert be accepting of Will's transgressions, or will the FBI Agent walk away, leaving Will to pick up the pieces of his shattered life, once more? Part of Samantha A. The Dramatic Conclusion to Michael Phillips's Shetland Islands Saga Loni Ford's unexpected inheritance of substantial real estate--not to mention a title--in the Shetland Islands has caused more than a stir in the quiet fishing hamlet of Whales Reef. How is life ever to be the same with an outsider--and a woman, at that--playing such a pivotal role in the life of this conservative community? But it isn't just the locals who have deep misgivings about the current situation. Loni herself never imagined this in her wildest dreams. What Loni is more sure of, however, is that she is falling in love--with Whales Reef, with its hardy people, with its simple, peaceful way of life, and with local chieftain David Tulloch, whose inheritance she has usurped, at least in the eyes of some. But life in Whales Reef is not without drama. Deep rifts exist between certain lifelong residents, and when one local resident turns up dead, suspicion is cast in the direction of the island's most prominent family. How Loni and David deal with this challenge will go a long way in determining their future, and that of the quaint island community.

How is academia portrayed in children's literature? This Element ambitiously surveys fictional professors in texts marketed towards children, who are overwhelmingly white and male, tending to be elderly scientists. Professors fall into three stereotypes: the vehicle to explain scientific facts, the baffled genius, and the evil madman. By the late twentieth century, the stereotype of the male, mad, muddlehead, called Professor SomethingDumb, is formed in humorous yet pejorative fashion. This Element provides a publishing history of the role of academics in children's literature, questioning the book culture which promotes the enforcement of stereotypes regarding intellectual expertise in children's media. This title is also available, with additional material, as Open Access.
